REFERENDUM

INFORMATION FOR VOTERS

About this booklet

On 10 December 2014, there will be a referendum on a community right to build order (CRTBO) in your area. This booklet explains more about the referendum that is going to take place and how you can take part in it. In this booklet you can find out about:

- The referendum and how you can take part
- The neighbourhood area
- The community right to build order
- The development plan

Referendum on the Order

A referendum asks you to vote 'yes' or 'no' to a question. For this referendum you will receive a ballot paper with this question:

“Do you want the development in the Community Right to Build Order for Ferring - Housing on the Village Hall Site – to have planning permission?”

How do I vote in the referendum?

You vote by putting a cross (X) in the 'Yes' or 'No' box on your ballot paper. Put a cross in only one box or your vote will not be counted.

If more people vote 'yes' than 'no' in this referendum, then Arun District Council and South Downs National Park Authority will 'make' the Order.

If more people vote 'no' than 'yes', the Order will not be made.

What is Neighbourhood Planning?

Neighbourhood planning aims to help local communities play a direct role in planning the areas in which they live and work.

A community can prepare a neighbourhood plan or order. This plan can show how the community wants land to be used and developed in its area.

Neighbourhood Development Orders (NDO) can grant planning permission for specific types of development in a neighbourhood area. A CRTBO is a particular type of the NDO that can be used to grant planning permission for small scale development for community centre or new residential development without submitting a planning application and going through the usual planning application process.

Where the community organisation would like to develop the land itself the resulting assets can only be disposed of, improved or developed in a manner which that organisation considers would benefit the community.

What is a neighbourhood area?

A neighbourhood area can cover single streets or large urban or rural areas. The boundaries of a neighbourhood area are put forward by:

- Town or parish councils
- A neighbourhood forum (a group of at least 21 people in areas without town or parish councils)

In Ferring the boundary of the neighbourhood area was determined by Arun District Council in conjunction with the South Downs National Park Authority and is identical to the parish area of Ferring.

Who can prepare an Order?

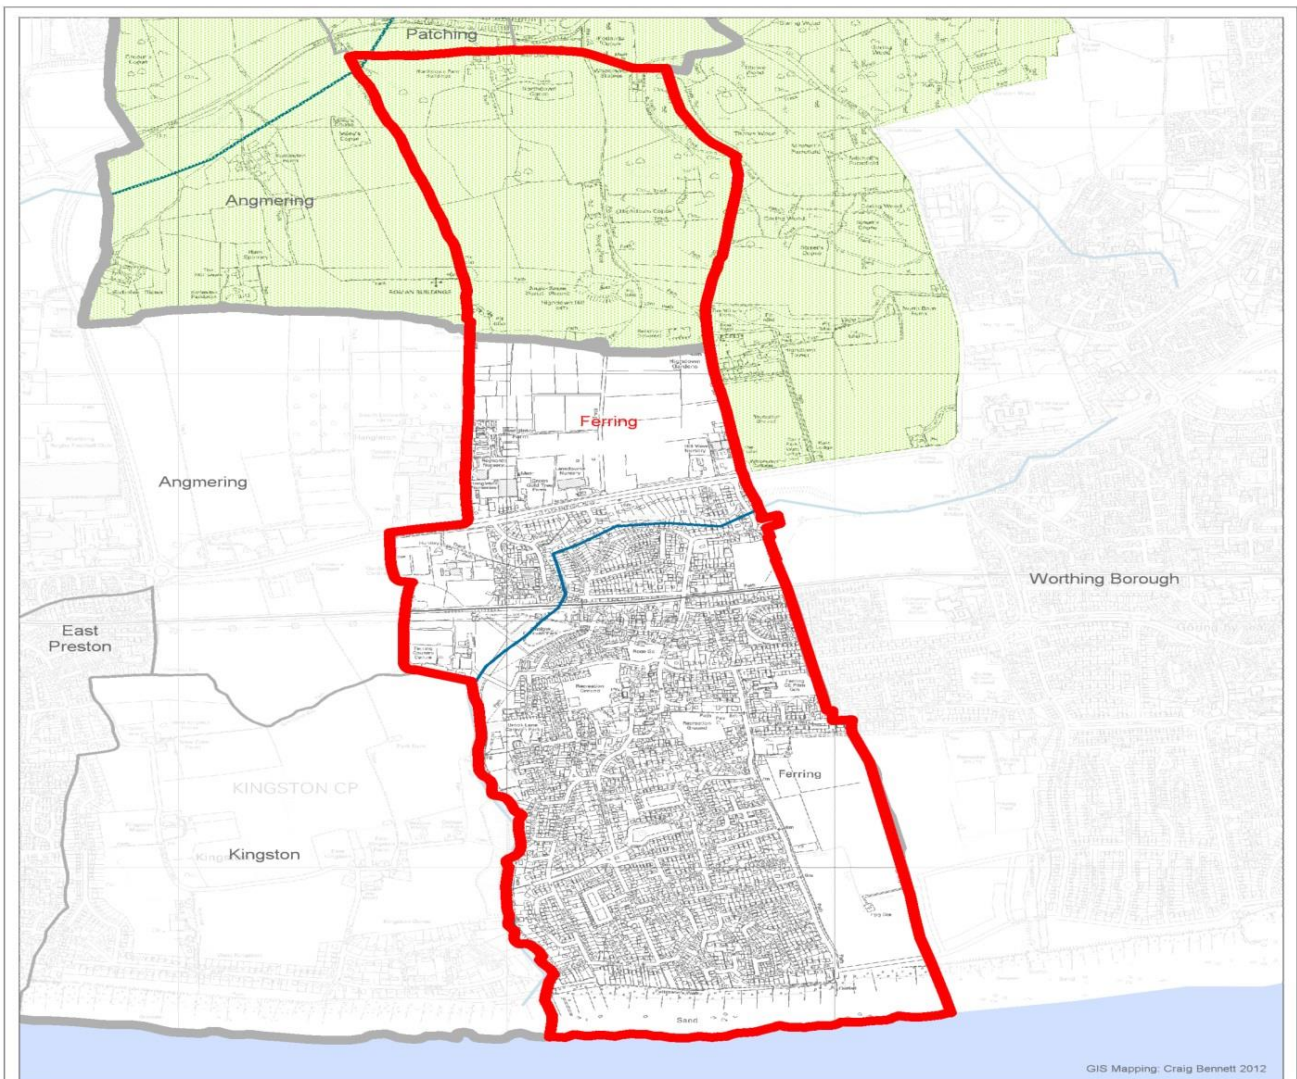

Neighbourhood orders are prepared by town or parish councils, or neighbourhood forums. In this case, the Order was prepared by Ferring Parish Council.

What is a Development Plan?

In England, planning applications are determined by local planning authorities in accordance with the Development Plan. A Development Plan is a set of documents that set out the policies for the development and use of land across the entire local authority area. Within the Arun District, the local planning authority is Arun District Council. The Order will form part of the Development Plan.
